

Dr. Viswa Nadham Profile

Dr. Viswanadham Nadiminti, have been employed with School of business, The Papua new guinea university of technology as a senior lecturer in accounting area. He moved from Tanzania to Papua New Guinea, to expand his professional growth in terms of academics, research, and consultancy, he involved in teaching Undergraduate accounting courses, post-graduate management courses, and M.Phil. and Ph.D. courses, and also successfully mentoring major research projects as well. He is a Chairman of Postgraduate Programs of the Business school, developing new postgraduate programs and advising supervisors about the dissertation and thesis work in their areas. Mentoring undergraduate projects in accounting subjects and helping student with industrial internships during their vacation time. He is a member of the Accounting and Finance Association of Australia and New Zealand, and a life member of the Indian Finance Association, which run by IIMs in India.

He had 15 years of vast experience in academic teaching, research, and consultancy at the university level all over the world. He has gained technical competency in financial accounting, cost accountancy, and management accounting subjects which are highly demanded and job-oriented subjects, has also taught online classes.

He was Special invitee for academic senate on PhD level proposals /Viva voce presentations in Tanzania. Worked with research teams. Academic consultant and advisor for Masters and PhD students.

Member for academic curriculum at the university level. Conducted Research Dar Salaam stock market, taking on projects including Investors decisions . IFRS role in globalisation, micro finance, Designed a new course for the University of Dodoma in M. Sc. Accounting and Finance. Conducted lectures on Advanced Management Accounting, Financial Management, and Investment Analysis, developing effective lessons and engaging Management and accounting students. Planned, coordinated, and oversaw finance seminars and management meets held in colleges around India to increase general knowledge of the field.

Principal Supervisor of four Doctoral Thesis on Business Administration and all awarded successfully. Ph.D. guiding is one of the key assets in an academic career, really challenging and defending different stakeholders at different levels, starting from a small idea to take bigger level, like concept paper development to report writing. Guided 125 above MBA and M.Sc. Accounting and Finance students toward achieving certification by providing valuable support on dissertation and research work completion. He had supervision on some important topics ;like, banking and lending management, pension funds issues, personal finance, micro finance, financial management, NBFC role on economy, bank treasury management, bank financial management, financial analysis, auditing on public and private companies, business environment, income tax and administration, tax compiling challenges, role of IFRS in a company, preparedness for global accounting challenges, holding companies like mergers and acquisitions, business combinations, costing methods application, cash management policies, inventory management issues, accounting education, organizational effectiveness through advanced management policies, management accounting practices in manufacturing industry, balanced score card implementation and challenges in companies and banks, management control systems, alternative strategies of capital for SMEs, credit information and effect on performance of the commercial banks, transparency of financial statements, CSR in banking sector, Investment patterns of investors in stock market, role of debt financing on SMEs financial performance, negative affect of taxes on the general public, customer oriented requirements for commercial banks, legal challenges of commercial banks, sources of entrepreneurial finance, finance department challenges with local government authorities etc. Consultant for many SMEs in advisory roles on SME funding, rural business establishment, fundraising through different resources, and project report preparation for young entrepreneurs to inmate their new startups, this experience helped me to work with them closely and get new exposure in the area.

Published 25 papers in National and International reputed journals on Accounting and Finance, economics, business organization, banking, stock market, investors management, portfolio analysis, SME business and its role in financial inclusion, tax evasion and its consequences on the economy, IFRS implementation. Attended 17 International conferences and acted as a chair for technical sessions. Published three books in accounting, finance, and strategic management area. Participated in professional development relevant programs also.